Area Musicians Shine

by Roger Schoch

"There is nothing happening, there is nothing going on around here" is the common cry of many of the young people in our area.

Well for those in the know, something was happening and it did at the Village Pastimes Emporium on September 20.

Six of our area's most talented musicians assembled and displayed their unrehearsed raw talent in one of the best singer, songwriter sessions this writer has attended in years.

Jeremy dePrisco, also Entertainment Director, put on his usual dazzling performance, Dave Sterenshock took me back to my folk music roots, Brittany Fromyovitch sang of love gone wrong and the real find of the evening, Jacqueline Evans, sent her angelic voice soaring around the room, touching both young and old. Kenny Wenner played sax and percussion and the artist presently known as Barry rounded out the percussion section.

Unfortunately, this may be the last time we see this group together in the near future as both Jeremy and Brittany have taken up residence outside our area. However, since Dave, a highly respected staple in the area and Jacqueline, the owner-operator of Design Art Street in Hazleton, have not announced winter migration plans, these two musical jewels will be ours to enjoy again soon.
